LEVEL I (Basic): • September 20-21 • November 15-16

The Level I Seminar introduces communication and relationship building skills which help students effectively relate to people on many relationship levels — spouse, parent, child, friend, student, employer, employee, teacher — offering alternatives to conflicts and confrontations. Self-esteem is enhanced, trust grows, and relationships are enriched.

LEVEL II (Continuation): •October 18-19 • December 13-14

The Level II Seminar enhances and internalizes the skills introduced in the Level I and includes a brief review. Students learn how to assert needs, set limits, negotiate to agreement, diffuse criticism and will have the opportunity to practice and reinforce the new skills through role-playing.

LEVEL III (Advanced): • August 16-17

The Level III Seminar is for those who have completed Level I and II, and who may now work on personal issues and needs in roles, especially emphasizing areas of the skills they feel need work. Be prepared to work hard in skill building, and in exploring issues and values! Also, you may now work together in roles if you wish, if you attend with your partner.
